DEMOCRATS MUST GO
"DRY," SAYS BRYANDeclares Party Faces a "Drunkard's Grave" Now.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 19.—If the Democrats want to be saved they will have to clamber on the water wagon, according to William J. Bryan, who has just opened a four-year campaign to convert the Democrats to prohibition here.

"The Democratic party cannot afford to be buried in a drunkard's grave, but that is what will happen unless we take a stand on the right side of the prohibition question," said the Commoner yesterday.

Speaking before 200 Democrats, Bryan converted them and brought them down to the mourners' bench to organize to make the party dry in Indiana.

Bryan addressed the National W. C. T. U. convention last night.

GOOD TEMPLARS
FOR A DRY DISTRICTAnti-Saloon League Attorney Describes Work of Organization.

The list of organizations going on record as favoring prohibition here received an addition last night when the International Order of Good Templars, District of Columbia branch, endorsed the plan.

Albert E. Shoemaker, attorney for the Anti-Saloon League, in an address to the delegates, described what the league had done since 1892, and told of plans for its further work.

The meeting was held at the Perpetual Building Association hall. About fifty persons attended.
